

The levitation zone melting laboratory enables zone melting of alloy bars up to 25 mm in diameter in a low oxygen partial pressure ($pO_2 < xx$) helium atmosphere.

The unit is fully instrumented for in-situ measurement of the thermal gradient using a two-color pyrometer, as well as liquid zone size and growth velocity, allowing process control through adjustment of the required induction power.